Treasurer-Tax Collector's Pooled Investment Fund

Monthly Commentary

Economic Progress Threatened by the Resurgence in COVID-19

The election and the spread of Covid-19 dominated the news in November and the economic landscape dimmed slightly. Clouds of concern gathered on the horizon as the spread of Covid-19 intensified and the prospect of public health measures limiting economic activity increased. Fixed income markets remained bounded to near zero and slightly reacted to the changing prospects of fiscal stimulus and a vaccine. The Treasurer-Tax Collector's Pooled Investment Fund (TPIF) balances increased as property tax collections began to gather momentum.

The employment situation appeared to improve with the unemployment number dropping to 6.9% from 7.90%. However, one reason for the improvement was a drop in the participation rate. The number of adults not in the labor force neither working nor actively seeking work rose by 560,000, as the labor force participation rate dropped by 0.2 percentage points. Nonfarm Payrolls dropped slightly to 638k from the previous level of 661k.

Manufacturing received some good news on November 18, when FAA Administrator Steve Dickson signed an order that paves the way for the Boeing 737 MAX to return to commercial service. Boeing is one of America's largest manufacturers as well as its No.1 exporter. Durable goods orders dipped a little to 1.30% from the prior month level of 1.90%, while still exceeding a market consensus of .80%.

Inflation continues to be under the Federal reserve's (FED) target of 2%. CPI Ex Food and energy YoY was 1.60%, slightly lower than the previous level of 1.70%. Speaking of the FED, the Federal Reserve Open Market Committee (FOMC) met on November 5th and left rates unchanged. The FED communicated its determination to keep rates low to help the economy recover from the Covid-19 slowdown. They acknowledged that the economy made progress from the worst of the spring, and that some key indicators pointed to economic progress trailing off as cases picked back up.

The FED's low rate policy continues to benefit the residential real estate market, a sector that has been a bright spot in the economy during this pandemic. Housing starts again bested expectations, climbing 4.9%. Single family starts accounted for all of the increase and marked the sixth consecutive increase for single family starts, which are now at their highest level since April 2007.

Riverside County saw single family home prices rise 13.9% year over year in its most recent month of sales. The County is benefiting from buyers fleeing the much higher priced Los Angeles and Orange County areas, as families are able to find much larger homes here for less money.

Mid-month received an announcement from Pfizer that they had developed a new Covid-19 vaccine. Equity markets rallied on the news and bond yields rose slightly as money moved to more 'risk on' asset classes.

The short end of the Treasury market (5 years and under) where the TPIF operates, moved very little during November, with the 2-year yield starting the month at .15 and ending the month at .15. 5-year Treasuries started the month at .37 and ended the month at .38.
